

ATTS Partners with Trainor – Groupe Apave to Expand Access to International Technical and Safety E-Learning Across Asia-Pacific

Assets Training & Technical Services (ATTS) is proud to announce a strategic partnership with Trainor – Groupe Apave, becoming the first CompEx Approved Training Provider in Southeast Asia to collaborate with Trainor in delivering its internationally recognised digital technical and safety training programmes. This partnership marks a significant milestone in ATTS' commitment to expanding access to world-class training, competency development, and internationally recognised qualifications for industries across the Asia-Pacific region.

Through this partnership, ATTS will offer Trainor's portfolio of digital technical and safety training programmes, beginning with internationally recognised CompEx e-learning courses. The collaboration provides professionals and organisations with greater flexibility to access industry-leading training while supporting workforce competency, regulatory compliance, and operational excellence.

The introduction of e-learning enables participants to complete theoretical training remotely at their own pace before progressing to practical training and competency assessments where applicable. This pre-learning approach improves accessibility, reduces time away from the workplace, and enhances the overall learning experience without compromising training quality.

The partnership combines Trainor's extensive experience in developing digital learning solutions with ATTS' technical expertise, accredited training facilities, and strong presence in the Asia-Pacific market. Together, both organisations are committed to providing the industry with practical, accessible, and internationally recognised competency development solutions that address the evolving needs of sectors including energy, oil and gas, petrochemical, chemical processing, marine, manufacturing, pharmaceuticals, and renewable energy.

In addition to CompEx e-learning, ATTS will progressively expand its digital training portfolio by introducing further technical and safety programmes from Trainor, providing customers with a broader range of professional development opportunities aligned with international industry standards.

This collaboration reinforces ATTS' mission to be a trusted regional provider of technical training, certification, and competency assurance, supporting organisations in developing safer, more competent, and future-ready workforces.
